AGING AND PUBLIC POLICY

The requirements for this course consist of two papers of moderate length (6 pages) and a longer policy analysis assignment (10-12 pages). The schedule for these is listed on page 3. Papers handed in late will have their grades reduced. To pass the course, all assignments must be submitted. Students are expected to attend class and use materials from lectures along with the assigned readings when writing the papers. There are two books for purchase: The Generational Equity Debate (eds. Williamson et. al) and The New Politics of Old Age Policy Second Edition (Hudson),. al.) Both are in paperback. Most of the other readings will be available on electronic reserve. Some of the articles and books will be on reserve only. Readings with a "*" are optional (but recommended). Readings with "" are also optional and may be found at the web addresses listed below.

Several of the readings are in The Green Book (2008) A U.S. House Committee on Ways and Means publication). It can be accessed on the web at:
