

Fall 2020 Course Schedule

Department of Philosophy

as of 7/27/20

The Philosophy Department is offering both in-person and online classes (see course list linked below for course designations), but our plan is to make ALL courses available to all students, so that even in-person courses can be taken by students who have opted for online-only instruction for the fall. Online-only students are not limited to courses listed specifically as online. There will also be accommodations for online-only students in different time zones, to allow for asynchronous access to course content and flexibility for any potentially required live components. For more specific information on arrangements for specific courses, please email the course instructor.
