Office Hours: Tuesdays 11:00am-12:30pm and by appointment

Course Description

The course combines social science theory, systematic empirical evidence, case studies of recent policymaking, role-playing simulations, and skill-building exercises. We will learn how policy is made by examining the relevant actors and techniques of policy analysis. The first part of the course focuses on institutions that shape policymaking: Congress, the president, the bureaucracy, and courts. In the second half of the semester, we will turn to the study of policies. The main assignment in the course involves a through policy analysis on a policy of your choosing. At the end of the course, each student will present the findings.

Course Requirements

Students are expected to attend class every Tuesday and Thursday and keep up with the readings. Attendance is mandatory and active, respectful, and thoughtful participation in class meetings is expected. Throughout the class, we will have activities and speakers. Thus, the course is going to rely on engaged interest and participation.

Grading

Midterm exam: 30% (held in-class on Thursday, 3/08)

Memos and Activities: 10% (due 1/30 and 3/27)

Final paper: 30% (due 5/01)

Final paper components: 10%

Final presentation: 5%

Participation: 15%

Grading Scale and Late Assignments

100 ≥ A ≥ 95 > A- ≥ 90 > B+ ≥ 86 > B ≥ 82 > B- ≥ 80 > C+ ≥ 76 > C ≥ 72 > C- ≥ 70 > D+ ≥ 66 > D ≥ 62 > D- ≥ 60 > F.

If you do not have an extension, and you turn in a paper late, you will be docked one third of one letter grade for every 24 hours that the paper is late, with late penalties accruing from the time the paper is due. For example, if your paper earned a B+, but you turned it in a few hours past the time it was due, you will receive a B; if you turned it in 30 hours past the time it was due, you will receive a B-.

Participation

The participation grade is comprised of attendance and active participation in lecture. We will be doing activities and discussing readings, and it is essential that all students contribute. One important component of participation includes bringing discussion questions to class. Students should plan to have at least one discussion question prepared per class meeting. Participation points will automatically be deducted for absences. As an additional part of participation, students should plan on attending office hours at least once during the semester to discuss their final paper. I will send an email to each student halfway through the course to let you know how your participation has been up to that point.

Academic Honesty

All assignments and activities associated with this course must be performed in accordance with the University of Rochester's Academic Honesty Policy. More information is available at: <http://www.rochester.edu/college/honesty/index.html>

Disabilities and Accommodations

This classroom respects and welcomes students of all backgrounds and abilities, and I encourage you to talk with me about any concern or situation that affects your ability to complete your academic work successfully. Students requiring accommodations should contact the Office of Disability Resources:

Required Books

You will need to purchase the books listed below. We will read substantial portions, so I cannot post these selections on Blackboard. The rest of the readings will be available on Blackboard. Throughout the semester, I will send newspaper articles and other short pieces that deal with topical issues. These are considered required reading and we will discuss them in class.

- David Kessler. 2002. A Question of Intent: A Great American Battle with a Deadly Industry.
- Robert Kaiser. 2014. Act of Congress: How America's Essential Institution Works, and How It Doesn't.
- James Forman Jr. 2017. Locking Up Our Own: Crime and Punishment in Black America.
