From the salons of Rochester to the shipyards of Gdansk to streets of Cairo, ordinary people have joined together to act outside of regular political institutions and push for change. They have formed organizations to protest, used nonviolence and violence, and fought to keep movements alive. These movements persist despite great personal risk and costs for participants. In this course we examine why and how social movements begin, organize, and succeed or fail. We examine how leaders develop new contestation techniques and how elites try to counter or neutralize these activities. Finally, we explore the impact of protest on macro-level outcomes such as political liberalization, new conceptions of citizenship and public policy. The course ends with a study of contemporary pro-democracy protests in the Middle East, considering hypotheses on the use of social media. Throughout the semester, students will apply course theories to social movement organizations of their choice in independent research projects.

Course Materials:

All course materials will be posted onto Blackboard, or available through the University of Rochester Library website. Books assigned for the course should be purchased.

I ask students to buy one book: Gordon Harvey’s Writing With Sources: A Guide for Students (Cambridge, MA: Hackett Publishing Co., 2008 – older versions okay). Used copies are acceptable. The book provides guidance on better writing; not following its general outlines will result in loss of points on the writing assignments. Points will be deducted for essays that do not conform to guidelines set in Writing with Sources.
The class is designed to expose students to the major sociological understandings of social movement organizations and trends: how they arise, how they operate, and how they address adversity and elite reactions. The course has two major components: an introduction to theoretical debates about social movements, and an application of these theoretical pieces to a social movement organization (SMO) of students’ choosing and to organizations pushing for regime change in contemporary contexts.

Students are expected to attend class regularly, do the assigned reading, complete all assignments, and participate in class discussions and activities. The assignments comprise in-class participation (30%), a five-page paper due in paper form at the beginning of class on February 24 (20%), a five-page paper due at the beginning of class on April 7 (20%), and a five-page paper due by email on May 8 by NOON (20%). Please consult Writing with Sources for proper indentation, formatting, and citation procedures. Students will also do a five-minute oral presentation on a social movement organization of their choice on the last weeks of class (10%).

The five-page papers spaced throughout the semester and the oral presentation are an opportunity for students to do outside research on a social movement organization that interests them. Students are not required to stick with the same SMO for all three papers, but doing so will ease the research burden. The oral presentation should be about an organization covered in one of the three papers. Independent research should include at least three peer-reviewed academic sources, and at least five sources in total.

Written work standards:
All written work should be in Times New Roman font, size 12, double-spaced, with 1" margins on all sides of the paper. In-text citations are mandatory, in either Chicago or MLA style. Five-page papers should be between 4.5 and 5.5 pages; points will be deducted for papers that are too short or too long. The bibliography at the end does not contribute to the page count. Place your name and paper title in a Header at the top of the page only.

Late work:
Assignments will be deducted 1/3 of a letter grade (from A to A-, B+ to B, etc.) for each 24 hours or fraction thereof that elapses between the due date and the submission of the assignment.

Grading scale
A (93.0% < x)
A- (90.0% < x ≤ 93.0%)
B+ (87.0% < x ≤ 90.0%)
B (84.0% < x ≤ 87.0%)
B- (80.0% < x ≤ 84.0%)
C+ (77.0% < x ≤ 80.0%)
C (74.0% < x ≤ 77.0%)
C- (70.0% < x ≤ 74.0%)
Non-passing grades (x ≤ 70.0%)

All students will receive an extra 2% on their grade if at least 90% of students in the class complete online course evaluations.

In-class participation:

We will conduct class discussions in seminar format, with extra activities and breakout sessions for enrichment. Two or three students will present each reading per week. Summarize the work in two sentences and provide one discussion question for the class. Be warned: I will cut off long introductions. The sign-up sheet for readings will be passed around in the second week.

Re-grades:

Students should feel free to contact me about re-grades due to arithmetic errors. If students feel that grades were incorrectly given, they can re-submit the assignment to me with a memorandum of at least 250 words explaining why they thought they deserve a different grade. Requests for re-grades should be made within 72 hours after the results have been passed back. I reserve the right on re-grades to lower, raise, or maintain any grade.

Studying and work outside of class:

You are encouraged to discuss class readings and your research project with classmates for the examinations, and send me any questions. You may even trade drafts and outlines with your peers. All final work, however, should be your own. You will be held responsible for errors in citation and attribution. The College standards on Academic Honesty will be strictly enforced.

Accommodations:

If you are entitled to accommodations, please coordinate these with the Center for Excellence in Teaching and Learning early in the semester. Their information and policies can be found at http://www.rochester.edu/college/cetl/undergraduate/index.html I cannot make these arrangements for you; you must contact CETL (formerly LAS) yourself.

There will be no make-up work for students who fail to turn in final projects on time or miss classes. Be sure to contact your peers for class notes. I am happy to discuss the material with you, but I do not offer individual recap sessions.

Academic Honesty:
Conduct in class, during assignment, and in writing coursework should conform to the University's policies on academic honesty. The policy can be found at http://www.rochester.edu/college/honesty

Be sure to cite all your sources. When in doubt, add a footnote or endnote. In-text citations are acceptable. All country reports and independent papers should contain a bibliography at the end. Wikipedia is not considered a reliable source of information for this class, and should never be cited as an authority.

Any instance of plagiarism will result in zero credit for the assignment and referral of the student(s) involved to the College Board on Academic Honesty.

Course Outline

Students should come to class prepared to discuss all readings assigned for that week and for prior weeks.

I reserve the right to drop or replace readings to better direct learning and sharpen the focus of the course. All readings are required.
