Books
Six books are available for purchase at the University of Rochester Bookstore and at various places online, including abebooks.com (which sells used books). Be certain to get the correct translation of Tocqueville; our edition is translated by George Lawrence and edited by J. P. Mayer. All books are also on two-hour reserve at Rush Rhees Library:

2. Alexis de Tocqueville, Democracy in America, translated by George Lawrence.

Course website
Blackboard contains lots of information essential to the course—selected student papers, supplemental readings for discussion in your recitation, and links to all required readings not in the books listed above. To access these readings off-campus, you will need to download and run VPN (so that your computer can be viewed as part of the University’s network). You can find VPN at <http://rochester.edu/it/vpn/>. If any link on the website does not work, please let Professor Gamm know immediately by email.

Academic honesty. Students must conduct themselves in accordance with the University’s Academic Honesty Policy. In this class, students are encouraged to discuss readings and course material with anyone they choose—including the professor, TA’s, and other students. But, unless all assignments have been submitted, they may not share, receive, or discuss written work for this class, including outlines, plans, and notes for papers (except for simple proofreading as specified in the next sentence). They may receive basic help with spelling and grammar from others, including from Writing Fellows, but never substantive help with their written arguments nor help of any sort with their papers from current or former students in this class.
Requirements

Class participation is worth 20% of your grade. You are expected to attend lectures and recitations on a regular basis. The baseline participation grade is determined by participation in recitations, though it may be boosted by especially constructive contributions during lecture. You must attend recitation on a regular basis to receive credit for the course.

Short papers and the final exam are worth the remaining 80% of your grade.

To receive credit for the course, you must attend recitation on a regular basis, submit at least five papers (according to the schedule below), and take the final exam. Anyone who does not fulfill these minimal requirements will not receive credit for the course. The final exam schedule is set by the Registrar. The final exam for this course will be given at 12:30 pm on Monday, December 19.

You must write between five and ten papers and write them on a regular basis throughout the semester. The paper units are grouped into pairs, as follows:

- Paper 1: Unit B or C
- Paper 2: Unit D or E
- Paper 3: Unit G or H
- Paper 4: Unit I or J
- Paper 5: Unit K or L

You must write at least one paper from each of the five groupings listed above.

You must submit at least five papers (according to this schedule) to receive credit for the course. If you write exactly five papers, all five grades count. If you write between six and nine papers, we drop the lowest grade. If you write ten papers, we drop the two lowest grades. Should you wish to count every paper grade, you may do so if you notify your teaching assistant by e-mail before the final exam. The number of papers you write determines the relative weight of your papers and final exam. These are the various weightings:

- Five or six papers (five paper grades) ........ 45% papers, 35% final exam
- Seven papers (six paper grades) .............. 50% papers, 30% final exam
- Eight papers (seven paper grades) .......... 55% papers, 25% final exam
- Nine or ten papers (eight paper grades) ..... 60% papers, 20% final exam

Keep papers short and to the point. Papers should be 600-1,000 words in length (about 2-3 pages). No paper may exceed 1,000 words. Double-space the papers, use 12-point font, and no funny stuff with the margins; an inch on each side is about right. Place your recitation leader’s name at the top of your paper.

With the exception of the paper for Unit E (noted below), all papers are due in your recitation leader’s mailbox in Harkness 314 no later than 12:30 p.m. on Tuesdays. Requests for extensions will be granted only on a rare, case-by-case basis; except in the case of a genuine and unforeseen emergency, no late papers will be accepted without prior permission. If you do need an extension, contact your recitation leader or Professor Gamm as early as possible.

In the first weeks of the semester, three anonymous student papers will be posted to the course website each Wednesday evening. You are responsible for reading those three anonymous papers as preparation for your recitation on Thursday or Friday; you should copy those papers and bring the copies with you to recitation. In later weeks of the semester, a special reading will be posted to the website. You should be prepared to discuss this reading in recitation. Although we will continue posting selected student papers in these later weeks, they are intended for reference purposes only; they will not be discussed in recitation.

* THE FINE PRINT: If you skip one pair of units, you will receive a “0” as one of your paper grades, and this “0” may not be dropped. If you skip two pairs of units, you will receive two paper grades of “0,” and these grades may not be dropped. You may not skip more than two pairs of units and still receive credit for the course. Whether or not you skip any pairs of units, you still must write five serious papers to receive credit for the course.
Unit A—Parchment Barriers

Aug. 31  Lecture
Sept. 2  No class—Annual Meeting of the American Political Science Association
Sept. 5  No class—Labor Day
Sept. 7  Lecture
Sept. 9  Lecture/Discussion

No paper assignment.

Declaration of Independence, 4 July 1776.

Constitution of the United States, 1787.

The Federalist No. 84, first twelve paragraphs (ending with the words “... entirely foreign from the substance of the thing.”), 1788, in David Wootton, ed., Essential Federalist, 301-6.

Bill of Rights, 1789.

Unit B—Institutional Design

Sept. 12  Lecture
Sept. 14  Lecture
Sept. 15/16  Recitation

Paper due Sept. 13. Focusing on three aspects of government—the nature of representation, the size of the country, and separation of powers—analyze how the Antifederalists (Agrippa, Philadelphiensis, and Melancton Smith) differ from the Federalists in their analysis of the proposed new constitution.

Agrippa IV, 3 Dec. 1787.

Philadelphiensis IX, 6 Feb. 1788.

Unit C — Democratic Tyranny

Sept. 19      Lecture
Sept. 21      Lecture
Sept. 22/23   Recitation

Paper due Sept. 20. What does Tocqueville see as the chief threats posed by the democratic age to individual liberty—threats emanating from society generally, from majority rule in government, from public opinion, and from the general sway of democratic and egalitarian ideals? Analyze, too, the basis of Calhoun’s fears of democratic rule (in particular, government by the “numerical majority”) and the institutional solution proposed by Calhoun to address this fear.

John C. Calhoun, excerpt from A Disquisition on Government.

Unit D — Democratic Liberty

Sept. 26      Lecture
Sept. 28      Lecture
Sept. 29/30   Recitation

Paper due Sept. 27. What are the norms, behaviors, and attitudes that Tocqueville regards as necessary for the preservation of liberty in a democratic society, and how do Americans learn those “habits of the heart”? In answering this question, identify the specific places, organizations, and institutions where Tocqueville believes Americans learn how to be free, then consider the implications of Putnam’s work for at least part of Tocqueville’s analysis.

Unit E—Social Choice and the Origins of American Political Parties

Oct. 3  No class—Rosh Hashanah
Oct. 5  Lecture
Oct. 7  Lecture
Oct. 10  Lecture
Oct. 12  No class—Yom Kippur
Oct. 13/14  Recitation

Paper due at the start of class on Monday, October 10. According to Aldrich, how did dissatisfaction with vote trading—such as what we presume occurred in “the room where it happens”—lead Hamilton, then, later, Madison and Jefferson, to organize the nation’s first political parties? In answering this question, show how Aldrich draws on social choice theory for his analysis. Also, discuss how Aldrich’s emphasis on the “great principle” differs from Madison’s (admittedly, partisan) view of the differences between the two parties.

Unit F—Liberty, Slavery, and Union

Oct. 17  No class—Fall Break
Oct. 19  Lecture
Oct. 21  Lecture/Discussion

No paper assignment.

Thomas Jefferson to John Holmes, 22 Apr. 1820.
Frederick Douglass, “What to the Slave Is the Fourth of July?” speech, Rochester, N.Y., 5 July 1852.
Address of South Carolina to Slaveholding States, 25 Dec. 1860.
State of Mississippi, Declaration of Secession, 1861.

Unit G—Collective Action, Ambition, and Two-Party Politics

Oct. 24 Lecture
Oct. 26 Lecture
Oct. 27/28 Recitation

Paper due Oct. 25. How do Holt and Aldrich each account for the collapse of the Whig party and the rise of the Republicans in the 1850s? Are their explanations similar or fundamentally different?

Unit H—Women and Labor

Oct. 31 Lecture
Nov. 2 Lecture
Nov. 3/4 Recitation

Paper due Nov. 1. How did activists, Progressive reformers, and lawyers make the case for protective legislation and sex discrimination in Muller v. Oregon, and how did Congress come to prohibit sex discrimination in the final language of the Civil Rights Act of 1964?

Unit I—Race, Congress, and the New Deal

Nov. 7 Lecture
Nov. 9 Lecture
Nov. 10/11 Recitation

Paper due Nov. 8. According to Katznelson, what were the primary ways that federal programs discriminated against African Americans in the 1930s and 1940s, and what were the political forces that led the national government to enact these policies? What evidence do Butler and Broockman offer that white legislators continue to discriminate against African Americans today?

Ira Katznelson, When Affirmative Action Was White, 1-141.

Unit J—The “Textbook Congress”

Nov. 14 Lecture
Nov. 16 Lecture
Nov. 17/18 Recitation

Paper due Nov. 15. If, as Mayhew contends, legislators are “single-minded seekers of reelection,” what are the implications of his analysis for the activities of individual members of Congress and also for the ability of Congress to function effectively as a legislative institution?

David R. Mayhew, Congress: The Electoral Connection.
Unit K — Reform and the Rise of Polarized Politics
Nov. 21 Lecture
Nov. 23 No class — Thanksgiving Break
Nov. 25 No class — Thanksgiving Break
