Civil war is by far the most common form of armed conflict in the contemporary world. Internal wars, such as those in Iraq and Afghanistan, are also central to the major foreign policy debates in the United States and the United Nations. The first half of this course addresses the question of when and where civil wars occur and what their effects are domestically and internationally. The second half of the class examines external actors' role in civil war, such as financial support to governments or insurgents, armed interventions, and peacekeeping missions.

Course materials

All required materials will be available through Blackboard. Lecture slides will be available on Blackboard before the start of each class.

Evaluation

Students will take 2 in-class midterms, each worth 30% of the final grade, and a cumulative final worth 40% of the final grade.

There are no make-up exams, so please make any travel plans accordingly.

The time and location of the final will be determined by the registrar. Please note that the registrar has the prerogative to change the time or location of the final without notifying the course instructor. Therefore, you should always check the registrar’s website or office for up-to-date information on the scheduling of exams.

If you are entitled to examination accommodations, please coordinate these with the Center for Excellence in Teaching and Learning in advance of the examination (see http://www.rochester.edu/college/cetl/). Please also be aware that CETL has changed its policies on late requests for accommodations as of January 2011. Students will not be able to obtain special examination accommodations directly from the instructor or the TA.

Course evaluations and extra credit

Everyone in the class will receive extra credit (an additional 3% added to their final grade—e.g., 90% to 93%) if there is at least 95% class participation in the on-line course evaluations.

Grading scale

- A (93.0% < x)
- A- (90.0% < x ≤ 93.0%)
- B+ (87.0% < x ≤ 90.0%)
- B (84.0% < x ≤ 87.0%)
- B- (80.0% < x ≤ 84.0%)
- C+ (77.0% < x ≤ 80.0%)
- C (74.0% < x ≤ 77.0%)
- C- (70.0% < x ≤ 74.0%)
- Non-passing grades (x ≤ 70.0%)
Format and grading of the midterm and final examinations

Format

The in-class midterms will consist of two essays. The final will require three essays.

All of the essays will be randomly chosen from a list of questions distributed in advance of the exam. There will not be a choice of questions.

You may not bring any notes or other class materials to the exam. Any backpacks, computers, or phones that you bring to the classroom on examination day will need to be left at the front of the room.

Conduct during tests and in class is governed by the University’s policies on academic honesty. See http://www.rochester.edu/college/honesty/ for details.

Studying for the exam

You are welcome to work with other students on preparing for the exams. There will also be in-class review sessions.

However, neither the TA nor the instructor will read over or evaluate answers or partial answers to the exam questions in advance of the test.

Grading

The detailed grading rubric for the essays is available below. Each essay is graded out of 100 points.

Policy on re-grades

If there is an arithmetical error in the grading of an exam, the student should approach the TA, who will correct the error. If a student wishes to challenge the grade assigned to all or part of an essay, the following steps must be taken:

1. Students must email the professor a request for a re-grade within 72 hours of the exams being returned to the class.
2. A request for a re-grade must explain which aspect(s) of the grading rubric the student believes should have been assigned a higher score. For each disputed aspect, students must justify why they should be given a higher grade given the standards in the grading rubric and cite specific materials in the readings or lectures if applicable.
3. The professor will re-grade all aspects of the essay. The student’s final score on the essay may go up or down or be unchanged.
