Biographies of Emancipation in The Black World AAS 247 (4cr)

Biographies of Emancipation in the Black World explores the sites and figures who contributed to the emancipation of the Black world, understood here as the African continent and peoples of African descent. The choice of Ghana derives from its role in the articulation of the narrative of black emancipation. The city of Accra, with the street names and various parks and monuments, is in itself an embodiment of this struggle.
