Required Coursework and Grading

- This course is primarily a survey of American Military History that will broadly cover the people and events that affected the course of American history. A few significant individuals and battles will be mentioned, but students are encouraged to dig into topics of interest for their course papers, which can include strategy, tactics, technology, weapons, ships, planes, vehicles, uniforms, logistics, manufacturing, medical care, women and minorities, veteran pensions and organizations, technology, war reporting, and the home front, along with many others.
- Five Papers are required as described below and must be handed in or e-mailed by the end of class on the date due – be aware that late papers will lose points. Papers should be double-spaced with a 10 to 12-point font and 1-inch margins. Papers should be e-mailed in PDF format. You may use any citation style you are comfortable with and are encouraged to include maps, photographs, and other graphics that are relevant to the topic. The military has had enormous impacts on American society, culture, politics, technology, medicine, food, consumer goods, transportation, race relations, etc. In addition, wars and the military have left many lasting impacts ranging from veteran health care, education and pensions to environmental issues such as toxic wastes, cluster bombs, and land mines. All of these are good topics and there are many more.
 - Papers 1-3 – Topic Papers (20 points each, 5-7 pages): Select a topic from each of the three chronological sections and write a 5 to 7-page paper that are due on October 2nd, November 1st, and December 4th. For references you can use books, movies, battlefields or museums. E-mail me if you have any questions about your chosen topic(s) or sources. As an option, you can read one or more books and/or one or more movies about an individual or topic and write a detailed review about what you learned and how well the author(s) addressed the subject matter.
 - Paper 4 – Battlefield or Museum Review (10 points, 2-3 pages) – Due at the last class meeting on December 13th.
 - Visit a battlefield and write a review describing the battle, who was involved, why it happened when and where it did, and what the current battlefield site offers tourists and historians. Nearby battlefields include Ganondagan in Victor; Lundy’s Lane in Niagara Falls; Newtown; Saratoga; Bennington; Oriskany; Ticonderoga; Concord, Lexington and Bunker Hill in Massachusetts; Fort Necessity & Gettysburg in Pennsylvania, Antietam in Maryland, and the Erie Maritime Museum and USS Niagara at Erie, Pennsylvania.
 - Or visit a military museum and write a review describing the museum, who runs it, what exhibits they have, and your impression of what it offers tourists and historians. Examples include the Intrepid Sea Air Space Museum in New York City; the USS Constitution Museum in Boston (which is very close to the Bunker Hill battlefield and monument); the National Warplane Museum in Geneseo; the Buffalo and Erie County Naval & Military Park in Buffalo; the New York State Military Museum in Latham; and the Destroyer Escort Historical Museum in Albany.
 - Paper 5 – Veteran Interview (30 points, 5+ pages) – Due at 10 am EST on Saturday, December 23rd (last day of finals). Track down a relative, friend or anyone else who has served in the U.S. Military (ROTC service alone does not count) or another country’s military. It is not necessary that they served during wartime. Interview them about their military career and submit a 5-page (or longer) summary of their experience along with your reaction based on what you have read and learned in this course. The subject’s name or other specific details need not be identified if anonymity is requested. A narrative is preferred rather than a list of questions and answers. Provide some background on the subject’s unit and location at the time they served, including pictures, maps, and other information. As an option, you can write about a veteran (such as a grandfather, etc.) who is no longer with us but left enough information for you to write a decent paper. Make sure to ask if they would want their children to serve in the military. See additional guidelines on Blackboard, including how to find a veteran if you don’t know any.
- Grades will be posted for each assignment on the course web page on Blackboard. Course grade will be determined on the total number of points earned in the course, with letter grades assigned based on the following scale:

95-100	A		83-84	B-		73-74	D+
91-94	A-		80-82	C+		70-72	D
88-90	B+		78-79	C		67-69	D-
85-87	B		75-77	C-		0-66	E

- Movies/videos – Documentary videos and movies related to the course will be shown.
- Reading – Literally thousands of books have been written about American Military History. Some general histories available on-line are listed on Blackboard and others are on the course reference page.
- Other resources – Class lecture slides will be posted on Blackboard, along with links to relevant videos, articles and other material. Feel free to suggest additional materials that should be included.
